SEATTLE – Moneytree announced today that they have won second place in the large company category in the 2010 "Best Places to Work in Idaho" contest. The contest recognizes companies for the quality of work environment, benefits, and the encouragement and promotion of individual growth within the company.

“We are very proud to receive this award and will continue to set high standards for the quality of life for all of our employees in every state in which we operate,” says Moneytree President Aggie Clark.

A company’s success in the contest is based on their rating in the following categories; company management, growth and development, work life balance, and compensation and benefits. The judges were the Moneytree employees themselves who took anonymous surveys in February. Independent judges compiled and analyzed the surveys and selected the top companies.

“This award reflects that our team members feel valued and are committed to our mission statement – to exceed customers’ expectations and give back to the community,” says Clark.

Recently Moneytree won 5th place in the San Diego Business Journal “Healthiest Employers” awards program. In 2008 and 2009 Moneytree was recognized as the Best Company to Work For in Washington State by the Seattle Business Magazine in the large company category.
